People with Disabilities
Emergency Planning

Does your emergency plan fully address the safety of people with disabilities?

James M. Shannon, President, National Fire Protection Association recently observed, "We simply cannot leave people who have disabilities in a building during any emergency---whether it is a fire, power failure, or bomb threat---hoping that someone will go back to assist them. Clear procedures must be in place, ranging from relocation within the building to evacuation of the building."

In this connection:

- Have you identified all employees with disabilities?
- Exactly, how will you move or protect such persons in an emergency?
- Are such plans in writing, tested and evaluated?
- Do you periodically revise these plans to cover new disabled employees, retirees and the like?

In sum, careful planning, education and effective drills will help ensure the safety of disabled personnel.

June Breakfast Meeting Highlights

Installation of New ASSE Chapter Officers for 2005-2006.

From the incoming President... Mr. Ted Cudal, CSP, CHMM, CPEA

I am excited about being your Chapter President this coming year. Although, I will miss the June meeting, I hope to be able to meet everyone that attends in July. I wanted to list some goals and objectives that we all can strive for as members of ASSE San Diego Chapter during the coming year:

1. Increase membership participation with a series of excellent speakers.
2. Provide scholarships to both Southwestern College and Cuyamaca students studying for an Associate of Science degree in Occupational Safety and Health.
3. Provide scholarship opportunities for participating members. This can be for the ASSE Conference or an ASSE annual fee scholarship.
4. Get the Chapter involved in an ASSE award.... Either a chapter award or nominating folks to be "Safety Professional of the Year" or the "Fellow Honor Program."

We live in interesting times and change is one thing that's a constant. I hope you all have a safe and productive year. We'll all look forward to seeing you at the next ASSE meeting!

Ted Cudal

ALSO...

Congratulations and welcome to our new treasurer, Ms. Nicole Khilnani.

Ms. Khilnani has been working at Dixieline for the past 6 years; the last 5 as the Risk Management Administrator. The Risk Management department handles workers' compensation claims, health and safety programs, new hire safety training, and the storm water pollution prevention program. Dixieline is a San Diego-based retailer that specializes in providing building materials to both homeowners and contractors alike. Nicole received her B.S. in Business Administration with an emphasis in Finance from SDSU.
